BIODYNAMIC WINES FROM SERESIN ESTATE

Organic produce is a cornerstone on which Gemyse is founded, and this includes the wine we serve. New Zealand-based Seresin Estate shares our conviction that we must look after nature, and we are delighted to have a close partnership with the Estate, which lies in the Marlborough region.

Seresin Estate has worked on organic principles since it was founded in 1992, and has been certified biodynamic since 2006. "Biodynamic" means agriculture with no chemical spraying, much like organic agriculture. In addition to this, biodynamics is based on a holistic approach encompassing all aspects of nature, from the soil beneath our feet to the phases of the moon, with natural manure from animals as well as herbal additives forming important elements of the work. It may sound a little hokey, but in fact the approach is based on common sense, and results in lively wines that you can drink without worrying about pesticide residues.

Seresin Estate is known particularly for its crisp, fresh Sauvignon Blanc white wines, as well as light, elegant Pinot Noir reds. More generally, the wines go perfectly with our organic vegetables from Aarstiderne.

KOMBUCHA Please ask the waiter for today's selection

Kombucha is a natural, fermented sparkling beverage with natural low alcohol content.

The taste is fresh and there is a fine balance of acidity and sweetness with natural carbonation arising from the fermentation process. Alcohol in kombucha can be a natural by-product of fermentation, just as traces of alcohol are in fruit juice. 55,-

DRAFT BEER Organic Pilsner Royal, Organic Classic Royal 50,-
